PROFILE

A variety of life experiences shape my approach to creative solutions for business, community, government, academia. I am the proud father of two adult sons who are making the world a better place. I've been married to my wife since 1982 after meeting her at Oregon State University. During my teenage years I worked for 10 summers as a mountain guide in the southern Sierra mountains of California. I was a Construction Engineer for 20 years, and I was a University of Oregon Professor in Family and Human Services for 17 years. I approach complex problems with curiosity, doubt, discovery, humility, and I try to bring together disparate perspectives and opinions
